Introduction to CampusX:

Founded in 2019 by Nitish Singh, CampusX is an AI education platform trusted by students and professionals across India and beyond. What started as a small initiative has grown into one of the most respected names in AI education.

CampusX is widely known for its playlists like “100 Days of Machine Learning” , “100 Days of Deep Learning” and other AI playlists with a combined view count of 60M+ over the years. These resources have helped thousands of learners build strong foundations and are often considered timeless and go-to learning material by the community. The Courses are intentionally designed to be slow, structured, and in-depth, so learners truly understand concepts instead of just skimming through them.

CampusX’s mission is to empower curious learners, remove the fear around AI, and deliver maximum value through practical, affordable education.

Note:

If the candidate is not sure which course to choose, they can take their time to research and they may also choose a course which might launch in future. There is no time limit to claim their gift.

All benefits like doubt support, certificate and community access will be included with the courses.

Winners must create an account on campusX website and send me their email to claim the gift.

Gift will be non-transferrable and re-sale is not allowed.
